THE TOWN COUNCIL. ALL-OVER-CANADA ITEMS. THE NEW BAPTIST PASTOR

An Uninteresting Meeting
Was Held Last Night.

The proceedings of the town council last night were short and of very little interest.

Communications were received from
P. L'Heureux, E. A. Kingdom, P.
L'Heureux and C. G. Pennock.

The petition of Mr. Kingdom and others was referred to a committee of the whole council to report at next meeting of the council.

Conn Brydon moved, seconded by Conn Belyea, that the mayor and treasurer be and hereby authorized to issue cheque in favor of P. L'Heureux, chairman of the Separate School Board, for $800, balance due to the Separate schools.

Conn Hudson moved, seconded by Horswill, that the mayor and treasurer be authorized to issue cheque in favor of Soc-Treas., of the Public School for $8000 on account of their appropriation for the year.

The following resolution was moved by Conn Horswill and seconded by Conn
Hudson:

"That whereas the game laws of the province of Ontario permit the killing of moose and caribou every third year only.

"And whereas both moose and caribou are very numerous throughout the western portion of the province.

"And whereas deer are now coming into the Rainy River section of the province, where until very recently they were rarely seen.

"Be it resolved that in the opinion of this council a suitable law for the western portion of the province will not work out satisfactorily in the western portion and vice versa, and we would therefore strongly urge that the game laws be so amended as to allow the silling in the western portion of the province, of one male moose, and one male caribou over the age of one year at any time between the 15th day of October and the 15th day of November in each and every year.

And that the killing of deer in the Rainy River district be prohibited for a period of five years.

"And that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Hon. Mr. Labouchard, Minister Public Works, Mr.
L. J. Inspecteur Ontario Game, and Mr. T. A. Cummer, M.P.P."

Conn Brydon gave notice that he would introduce a bill to provide for election of mayor and councillors for 1902.

The by-law for the appointment of collector of taxes received its second reading.

The new pastor of the Tabernacle made his public appearance on Sunday last and preached an inspiring sermon in the evening to a large con-

Cross of Christ," and was a careful and forcible presentation of the old gospel.

In appearance, manner, ability and style Mr. Reddick commends himself to the thinking public, and will doubtless be found an acquisition to the town in every way.

Dr. Spencer preached his farewell sermon in the morning and sang solo.
The quartette in the evening was very good. He lectures tonight on Old London, and will leave tomorrow for the east, after six weeks' pleasant stay in what he thinks a prospectively good town. Thus the Baptist church has been put upon Mr. Reddick's shoulders by a heavy call from the congregation and endorsement of the denomination, and with a prospect both encouraging and pleasant.

It has been decided to postpone the installation of a stampmill at the Elizabeth mine for six months, during which time underground work will be pushed on so that there may be an unfailing supply of ore to draw upon when the crushing machinery is in.

The mill is practically ready for the ind., so that at any time that it is thought advisable, the machinery can be put in without any unnecessary

From present appearances it is ex-

Port Arthur Herald, Mr. Fred J.
McKinnon and Mr. P. J. Cirkle of Minneapolis, are in town waiting to catch a boat for Duluth. These gentlemen have just returned from inspecting some mining propositions in the country along the Canadian Northern. Mr.
Bowman is well known in the mining world of West Algoma where he has been connected with some phase of mining for several years. Mr. Cirkle is one of the big operators in western mines. He owns or is interested in several paying mines in Minnesota.

DEATH OF MRS. ALEXANDER.

After an illness of two months Mrs. Mary Alexander, widow of the late J. G. Alexander, died here on Saturday. The deceased lady came here 10 yrs. ago St. Paul on a visit to Mrs. H. E. Holmes and other friend and was soon after taken with the illness which proved fatal. She was 60 years of age.

Mrs. Alexander was an old-time resident of Rat Portage, having lived here nine years prior to 1892, when she removed to St. Paul. Her husband predeceased her about twelve years. Among the older residents of Rat Portage she was very popular and held in high esteem, as was testified by the attendance at her funeral, which was held Sunday at St. Albans church. The remains were taken to St. Paul yesterday for interment. She leaves one son, Andrew, of Great Falls, Mont., and four daughters, namely: Mrs. Blashfield, St. Paul; Mrs. Seaton, Spokane, Wash.; Mrs. Weir, Halifax; and Mrs. Jos. Baker, Minneapolis. The son, Mrs. Blashfield and Mrs. Seaton were the children of the mother when she died.

Something like thirty million Great Lake whitefish eggs have been sent to the government hatchery at the Portage la Prairie in Manitoba.

THE FLAG AS AN ASSET.

Saturday Evening Post: Whatever enemies of Cecil Rhodes may have turned against him, he has never been a man of lack of either common sense or business acumen. Of all the remarkable utterances of this remarkable man none is more likely to be remembered than the statement made recently in an interview with an American newspaper correspondent when he referred to the flag of Great Britain as "the greatest commercial asset in the world." Great Britain is known to every corner of the earth, for its ships carry the flag alike among savage isles and into civilized ports. Even on our own coast the proportion of British mercantile flags to our own is often more than three to one.

Montreal, Dec. 9.—Alfred Desmarais, chairman of the Dominion Fidelity Supply company, going to the basement by the furnace carried an electric light attached to a long cord in his hand. Instead of hanging the light on a hook, provided for that purpose Desmarais held the bulb in one hand opened the furnace door with the other, thus forming complete circuit, causing instant death.

From present appearances it is expected that the Elizabeth will be among the best producers of the district when the stamps commence dropping. —Industrial Review.

Post Arthur Herald: Mr. Fred J. Bowman and Mr. P. J. Cirkle of Minneapolis are in town waiting to catch a boat for Duluth. Mr. Bowman is well known in the mining world of West Algoma where he has been connected with some phase of mining for several years. Mr. Cirkle is one of the big operators in western mines. He owns or is interested in several paying mines in Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Colorado. As a matter of fact Mr. Cirkle is one of the few actual mining men who have visited this section of the country. We understand that he recently sampled the deposits he was inspecting and that if the tests prove satisfactory he will interest himself in their development.

WITH THE PUCK CHASERS.

The Thistle hockey team have been practicing hard for a week and everyone who has watched them declare that last year's Champions are faster than ever. There will be one or two changes of last year's team. Of course Swinford's place at point will have to be filled, and the most likely player available is Matt Brown. He is putting up a good game and will likely be tried out Friday evening in the first league game of the season. The rest of last year's team have been out to practice, and their combination and shooting is as formidable as ever.

The first league game will be played here on Friday evening of this week when the Winnipeggers will be the opposing team. This will be a fast game and every lover of this fascinating sport should be there.

Winnipeg Telegram: Neither the Winnipeg nor the Rat Portage team seem to care much about luck. They open their season on Friday, the 15th day of December, and the Winnipeggers have to make a journey to that place. On the face of it, Winnipeg should look out as they have three black marks to two.

TAKE SOMETHING YOURSELF.

Mr. John Busybody Walker, the editor of that most brilliant "safton journal of the Cosmopolitan magazine, has hit upon another startling scheme to make his publication notorious.

He is going to stop the Boer war, as he stopped that terrible Indian famine.

By abusing England.

Mr. J. Bigbrane Walker has published a petition which every Christian church must sign at Christmas calling upon England to stop the Boer war, and let, the President of the United States and Queen Wilf of Holland arbitrate the trouble away.

Mr. J. B. doesn't intend to call upon the Boers to quit.

Here's a chance for an English magazine to make a name for itself if it hates minding its own business.

Let every Christian church in the British Empire sign a petition at Christmas, calling upon the President of the United States to stop the war in the Philippines.

And give Cuba its independence as per promise when the war with Spain was started.

And give back to the Puerto Ricans the country stolen from them during the war to free Cuba.

And stop the lynching of negroes. And abolish the trusts.

THE TELEPHONE COMPARISON

Mr. McCrossan says we are mistaken in crediting him, last issue, with saying that his company could give cheaper rates for telephones, if double the number of people used them than at present.

He says that the plant is running at its one operator maximum capacity, and if a lot of new subscribers to the telephone system were to come in, the company would have to charge more for their telephones than they do now, because the cost of operating would be greater than it is now. We are glad we know this, as Rip Van Winkle would say, but we are still unenlightened as to why the Neepawa system can be run profitably at half the price we pay. We have a larger system than our prairie sister, but the cost of operating cannot be larger, because it is impossible to get less than one operator to run a central.

TROUBLE IS SETTLED.

The man who interfered in a quarrel between a man and his wife is a fool. This has been said several times already, but some people cannot see a "little brown men" would be a blessing. He has a high opinion of the Chinese people:

ODDITIES OF GENIUS.
Physical Failings That Fall to the Lot of Famous Men.

"As for the honesty of these people, I appeal to every English merchant or banker, from Pekin to Hong Kong, to answer if he ever heard of a dishonest Chinese merchant or banker. So far from that, not only has every English bank two Chinamen to receive and hand out money, but every bank in Japan has the same. The English will tell you, half in jest, that the Japanese is an Oriental Yankee, and does not trust his own people; and they will tell you, half in earnest, that the English bankers employ Chinese to handle their money because they never make mistakes. These people of China have never had anything like a bankrupt lay. If a man cannot pay his debts, or someone does not secretly come forward and "pay them," at the end of each year, he has 'lost his face,' and so he dies by his own hand. Yet with all their piteous poverty, they have no such words as 'hard times,' for everything must be settled up at the end of the year. There can be no extension of time. Confucius forbade it.

THE ROPE FIRE ESCAPE.

It Would Seem to Be Delusion and a Snare.

"Strange how people 'pin' their faith to rope as a means of escape from burning buildings," remarked an officer of the fire departments. "Hundreds of traveling men carry a coil of light rope fastened in one of their trunks and feel safe on the upper floors of hotels they know are mere deathtraps. A drummer of my acquaintance, who weighs fully 200 pounds and who has taken no exercise for the last twenty years, has a sample case with a special compartment containing fifty yards of silk lifeline, extremely light and strong.

"Do you really think you could slide down on that in case of fire?" I asked him when he showed me the arrangement.

"Why not?" he replied. "It's been tested to three times my weight."

"The only difficulty that occurred to him was the breaking of the line. That he would have no trouble hanging to it on the way down he took for granted.

Now, as a matter of fact," continued the speaker, "a rope is the very worst fire escape imaginable. To begin with, a moment's reflection will show you that the chances are two to one that it will catch on fire and be destroyed before it can be used. The windows of nearly all buildings are arranged in straight vertical lines, one directly above the other, and a rope thrown out of an upper story would necessarily cross every casement on the way down. The probabilities are that some or all of them would be spouting flame and the rope would last about as long as a piece of pack thread.

"But, assuming the coast to be clear, a rope would be almost useless to anybody but a trained gymnast. The average man would find it physically impossible to let himself down hand over hand, and if he attempted to slide his palms, and he would let go involuntarily before he went thirty feet. Gloves or cloth are no advantage, as we have proved by tests in the department. If they are thick enough to prevent abrasion, they will also prevent one from obtaining sufficient purchase to ease the descent."

"The only thing of any value in that respect is the handkerchief looped loosely around the rope and tied firmly about both ends to the wrist. The loop will bind slightly in the descent and act as a brake. That is something, by the way, that is well worth remembering. Getting a hitch or two of the rope around one's leg is of no use whatever, unless some body has hold of the lower end and is keeping it taut. Altogether, the rope escape is a delusion and a snare, and I wish the fact were generally understood, because the confidence that is reposed in it makes people careless of other and proper means of safety. It is a good idea to leave something to the imagination.

Then picking up his coat, which comprised about a dozen pieces, he turned and walked out.

Woodsman

Know that in spite of hard work in the clear forest air the blood often becomes impure. The heavy food served in the lumber camps is to a great extent responsible for this condition of the blood, which renders the body an easy prey to many forms of disease.

Hoover, the famous painter, had a prominent scar on his forehead, which was the result of an accident in his early days. He made this appear still more prominent in a portrait of himself which he painted with his own hand.

The great Napoleon was subject to epileptic seizures, one of which it has been said lost him the battle of Waterloo.

Lord Byron, who was otherwise a magnificent specimen of a man, had a club foot of which he was anything but proud. However, it detracted from his appearance and hindered locomotion, it did not hamper his genius. Byron was possessed of a marked fear of going out of his mind.

Indeed, all poets are said to be more or less mad. Cowper was certainly subject fit of lunacy, as was likewise Chatterton, who killed himself in a fit of derangement. The same is true of Rousseau, Cervantes, Scotty and Swift.

Alexander Pope was a hunchback with a very crooked tongue, which one resulted in his being as good as told that he was "a crooked little thing that asks impudent questions."

Throughout his life Sir Walter Scott could only walk with a limp. As a boy he suffered from poliomyelitis, which left him permanently lame.

The late James Payn, the novelist, was extremely poor, in which respect he resembled Edison, the world renowned electrician and inventor.

Milton was totally blind when he produced the masterpiece of his marvelous genius. From his youth up he suffered acutely from gout, which was the primary cause of the loss of his sight.

As anybody could gather from his works, Thomas Carlyle was a chronic hypochondriac. A state of irritation appears to have been his normal condition, and, although in the absence of his peculiar ailment he might have been a far more amiable being, his writings would certainly have lost some of their most prominent characteristic.

Like Demosthenes, Charles Kingsley was afflicted with stuttering, but he did not care himself of the failing as did the famous Athenian orator by practicing speaking with pebbles in his mouth.

Perhaps the most famous of European surgeons was also the most nervous. This was Billiehan of Vienna, whose hands were subject to violent trembling.

But he operated with such celerity that his hand had no opportunity of trembling.

TOO PARTICULAR.

A business man who had eaten a meal in a restaurant where he frequently took his midday luncheon, walked up to the cashier and said:

"I had a bill of exchange about me today. If you will kindly hold the one for this until I come back, I will have certainly be in a day or two, I will call you up then."

The cashier was not a man of much human nature, or was it not a man of momentary irritation, who said:

"We don't run a bank in this shop. If you have a bill of exchange with you, you can let us hold it for your security."

"I didn't say I had a bill of exchange," the customer rejoined. "I said I had no change. Please take the change out of my check out of this."

And he took a fifty dollar bill out of his pocketbook and handed it to the astonished cashier.

"It will be better," he added, "if you leave something as security, for then it will be like to say me here a few days."

Then picking up his coat, which comprised about a dozen pieces,

he turned and walked out.

FROM RAIN IN THE WOODS.

"Then on the lawn the rain insists,
And over hills the clouds roll down,
When all the woodland shades with mist,
I take the old road out of town,
Up the hills through which it twists."

I find the vale where sunup grows,
Where benteen blooms, with witness broided,
The Vale through which the red creek flows,
Turpid with full-wasted day and flood.
Some strange horn a wildman blows!"

Like knots upon the gray bark'd trees,
The hickory-colored birds are present,
And wedged-in bellwabs, the low,
Sun-clotted pollen, in its nest,
The fine creeps and flees at ease."

The buttery and forest bird
Are headed on the same knotted bough,
From which, like some rain rived word,
That dampens blearily utters now,
The grov'rd voice is vaguely heard.

I croon and listen, and again
The woods are filled for me with farms;
Weird, elfin shapes in train on train
Arise, and now I feel the arms
Arundine of the wreaths of pain.

O wreaths of pain, so trailing misery,
Still let my lips by a secret kiss,
Still draw me with your hands of dew
Unto you from the dripping spray!

—Madeline Loring in Atlantic.

WHAT MRS. JOHNNIE DID

"Whatever you do, don't take the 12:10," Tom had said when at breakfast Mrs. Johnnie declared her intention of running up to town. "It's slow and awfully dusty and there's generally a rowdy crowd aboard. Wait for the 2:35 express."

But no sooner had Tom taken his departure than Mrs. Johnnie decided to do nothing of the sort. She was a bustling little body, forever on the go, and when once an idea crept into that clever little head of hers she was inclined to carry it through to a finish in her own particular way.

Consequently Mrs. Johnnie did take the 12:30 local, and within five minutes' time she was wishing devoutly that she had followed Tom's advice, for it was hot and dusty, and they were crawling along at a snail's pace, and there were some rough looking customers on board, and—oh, dear! After all, Tom did know what he was talking about occasionally.

At the far end of the car a young woman was sitting. She looked so young that one might almost have called her a child.

"How are my children?" she exclaimcame to town. He told me in his letter not to bring anything along; my country dress would never do for New York, he said. So I've left them all at home there, hanging up in my closet—all except my new pink one I got at Easter. It's so pretty I could bear to leave that behind. I guess it will do for the mornings, now and then.

"But wasn't it awfully good of Jack, though? I sent me this dress to wear on the way up and this diamond," pointing to a huge brooch that sparkled at her throat, "but which Mrs. Johnnie's eyes pronounced to be very bad paste. And there was a box of complexion salve he sent me too. I've put some of it on just to please him, but I can't say that I like it very much. It feels so and feels horrid. Do all ladies put in New York?"

At another time Mrs. Johnnie would have burst out laughing, but just at present matters were taking too serious a turn. Mrs. Johnnie was beginning to wonder very much.

"But when are you to be married, my dear?" she asked hastily. "You have not answered my question yet. And what does Sophie say? For, of course, we've told her all about it."

The girl hung her head, and Mrs. Johnnie could see her blushes even in spite of the rouge.

"You see, this is the way: Jack hates a fuss and all that. He said for us to get married first and then let Sophie know. That was the hardest thing I had to do—leaving her without a word of goodbye. But Jack knows best, I suppose. Only I wish—"

"Excuse me, Daisy, you mustn't think me impertinent for asking all these questions, my dear. Is Jack going to meet you at the station?"

"Well, no, not exactly. He's so busy at this time of day, you know. That's one reason why he sent the dress and things. He said in his letter that he had shown them to a lady friend of his. She's to meet me at the ferry and take charge of me till he comes."

"Oh! And how long did you say you have known a—a—Jack?"

The girl hung her head again. "I saw him first about six weeks ago. He came down on one of the yachts. He came down twice on Sunday after that, and he's written ever so often."

Mrs. Johnnie laid her hand tenderly upon the young girl's arm. "And do you really think, my dear Daisy, that you know him well enough to marry him? Wouldn't it be wiser to wait a year for you, and then see how matters stand? Hell wait for you gladly enough if he's really in earnest!"

"Why should I keep him waiting?" she answered. "He loves me. Isn't that enough? I love him just as entirely, and he does . . . by me. Isn't that enough?"

Mrs. Johnnie did not answer for a moment. Her lips were pressed tightly together, for, to tell the truth, Mrs. Johnnie was making up her mind to adopt a desperate means. This car half full of men was certainly no place for a scene, and Mrs. Johnnie began to realize that if she proceeded to do her duty by this little girl a scene was bound to come. The train was just slowing up for a moment at a little wayside station.

"Well, my dear, I hope sincerely that you will find it is enough," she said. Then, springing up suddenly, she grasped the earthenware and her own belongings.

Dr. Chase's Ointment A Food for the Skin.

An Antiseptic Ointment Which Promptly Alleviates Itching and Burning and Thoroughly Cures Every Form of Itching Skin Disease.

If the extraordinary value of Dr. Chase's Ointment were thoroughly understood there would not be a family in Canada that would be without it in the house for a single day.

In the first place it is a food and beautifier for the skin, and is so painless in its action that it will not delay in applying itself. It removes pimples, blackheads, and all sorts of disagreeable and disfiguring skin diseases.

In the severest cases of eczema, salt rheum, scurvy, scald head and other Itching skin eruptions, Dr. Chase's Ointment affords instant relief by alleviating the burning, stinging sensations, and will permanently cure if applied regularly.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the standard ointment for the whole country, and is more uniformly successful and more popular than any of its many rivals. Ask your neighbors about it. There is not a single community in Canada but has some cases where this remedy has worked remarkable cures, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A DAUGHTER'S DANGER.

A Chatham Mother Tells How Her Daughter, who was Troubled with Weak Heart Action and Run Down System was Restored to Health.

Every mother who has a daughter drooping and fading—pale, weak and listless—whose health is not what it ought to be, should read the following statement made by Mrs. J. S. Heath, of Richmond Street, Chatham, Ont.:

"Some time ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at the Capital Drug Store for my daughter, who is now 13 years of age, and had been afflicted with weak action of the heart for a considerable length of time.

"These pills have done her a world of good, restoring strong, healthy action of her heart, improving her general health and giving her physical strength beyond our expectations.

"They are a splendid remedy, and to any one suffering from weakness, or heart and nerve trouble I cordially recommend them."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50¢ a box or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists.

year for you and then see how matters stand? I'll wait for you gladly enough if he's really in earnest."

"Why should I keep him waiting?" she answered. "He loves me. Isn't that enough? I love and trust him entirely, and he does the same by me? Isn't that enough?"

Mrs. Johnnie did not answer for a moment. Her lips were pressed tightly together, for, to tell the truth, Mrs. Johnnie was making up her mind to adopt a desperate measure. This car half full of men was certainly no place for a scene, and Mrs. Johnnie began to realize that if she proceeded to do her duty by this little girl's scene was bound to come. The train was just slowing up for a moment at a little wayside station.

"Well, my dear, I hope sincerely that you will find it is enough," she said. Then, springing up suddenly, she grasped the carpetbag and her own belongings.

"Hurry up, my child!" she exclaimed, giving the girl a little push. "Here's where we change cars, you know. Come along!"

"But I thought this train!"

"Now, my dear, that's just what you mustn't do. Don't think, but follow my instructions."

The girl had realized what she was doing. Mrs. Johnnie had bundled her out on to the station platform. The train moved slowly out. Mrs. Johnnie watched it disappear with a sigh of relief, and then she turned to the bewildered girl and spoke to her very gently:

"Let us walk over to the little hotel, Daisy. We shall have to wait there half an hour. Perhaps we can secure a room there, for I want to have a little talk with you."

In speaking of it afterward Mrs.

Johnnie always declared that to her the walk from the station to the hotel was by far the saddest part of all that day's ordeal. It was then that the magnitude of the work she had to do dawned upon her for the first time. Before they two should be standing on that platform again Jack, the young girl's idol, must be shattered and thrown from its pedestal. To Mrs. Johnnie fell the task of displaying him in lurid colors, and, though it was a task which she shrank instinctively from in perspective, when the time came Mrs. Johnnie was not found wanting. She never told any one—not even Tom—the particulars of what occurred in that little room, but when the train from New York came rushing along half an hour later the semaphore was hoisted as a signal to stop and the two women stepped out, only on board.

Both of them had tear stained faces, but there was no rouge on the young girl's face now. Her hair hung simply down her back and she wore her pretty pink dress. Last night, when Mrs. Johnnie reached her own home, after quite a long combat with sister Sophie, Tom was told just as many of the particulars as Mrs. Johnnie thought fit.

When she had finished, he was silent for a moment or two, while he exhausted his stock of amazement upon Jack. Then, turning his attention to the woman in the case, he exclaimed, "Well, of all the little fools!"

But Mrs. Johnnie interrupted him suddenly.

"Don't call her that, dear," she added as she kissed him. "Just thank God that I took the 12:10."

Big Sale of High-Class Furs

Owing to a Manufacturer's Mistake we are in a position to offer High-Class Furs at less than eastern prices.

This is how it all happened : The manufacturer billed our case of Furs to Wm. Mackenzie & Co., Porage la Prairie, instead of Wm. Mackenzie & Co., Rat Portage. We were promised delivery of these goods early in October, and here it is the end of November. Of course we weren't particularly anxious to take them, as the season is advancing, but rather than send them back to Montreal the Manufacturer made us an offer which we accepted.

The Biggest Snaps in Caperines you ever saw—50 different styles to choose from—all made up specially for us. We merely quote a few prices here as it would be impossible to give you a description of these Rich Furs in this space :

Electric Seal Caperine With Collar and Trimming of Alaska Sable. Regular price $32.50. Sale Price $25.

Electric Seal Caperine Trimmed with a Rich Quality of Sable. Regular price $27.00. Sale Price $19.50.

The total population of Quebec in 1901 was 1,615,572, compared with 1,488,535 in 1891, an increase of 227,037.

The French population was 1,397,980, as against 1,189,316 in 1881, an increase of 121,634.

There are a couple of cases of small pox in Sudbury.

Mr. A. McNicol, a large Toronto horse dealer, who has just returned from Durban, South Africa, whether he went with a consignment of horses, made a very remarkable statement for publication at the Exchange Hotel, point St. Charles, Montreal, a couple of days since. He said that nearly every stock boat that sailed from New Orleans, Canada and Australia carries out from fifty to one hundred men, and of these less than ten per cent return with the ship.

The majority of those taking care of the cargoes on the way over have past records. They are Boer sympathizers at heart, and as the financial inducements are liberal, most of them join the enemy's ranks.

That was all that was said, and yet Mrs. Yeast went down the street like a stowaway on a windy day.

THE POPULAR DRUG STORE

Strict attention to every detail of the Drug business, low prices, and giving our people just the thing they ask for, have all contributed to make our establishment the popular drug store of the town. Physicians' prescriptions filled with accuracy and despatch. We invite you to call and examine our large stock of Perfumes and new Toilet preparations.

Marriage at Thirty.

The celibacy question is a delicate one to discuss, but it seems to me that if by giving young workmen a chance of lodging themselves comfortably and respectably when they first become self supporting you prevent them from getting married to girls as young as themselves and acquiring a quireful of babies before they are well out of their teens far more good than harm is likely to result in the long run from this operation. Young men of the middle class, at the present day rarely marry under thirty, many of them not till they are well past that age. So far as I can see, neither they nor society are the worse for deferring their nuptials. The older you go in the social scale the stronger are the reasons against a man marrying a young girl.

A Discourager.

"I don't believe in feeding tramps at the door," said Mrs. West. "You feed them once, and they are sure to come back."

"Well, I don't know. I always give them bread when they come to my door, and I can't say I ever knew a tramp to come a second time."

"Oh, well, Mrs. Yeast, you make your own bread, do you not?"

That was all that was said, and yet Mrs. Yeast went down the street like a stowaway on a windy day.

Loose Knife Blades.

Sometimes a table or kitchen knife blade becomes loose from the handle. When this occurs, take the blade out and fit two-thirds of the cavity with resin mixed with sawdust. Heat the shank of the knife very hot and press it in quickly and solidly. When it cools, you will find the handle is fixed firmly.

Knock to the Operator.

"The wooden wedding," said Mr. Henpeck, "is the fifth anniversary, isn't it?"

"Not necessarily," snapped his better seven-eighths. "If one marries a blockhead, the ceremony itself"— But he fled to the cellar before she could finish.

A Cyclone.

Customer—What's the matter? Why is everything so upset? Are you moving?

Clerk—Oh, it's nothing! Mrs. Jones came in to buy a paper of pins awhile ago

Lucky Poverty.

Certain young fellow named Gough contracted a very bad cough.

Now, he hadn't the dough.

The doctor's bills, though,

Was to shock the cough right!

Practice Makes Perfect.

Sue—Ferdy, have you ever loved before?

He (unashamed)—Why, of course, dear, else how could I now love to perfection?

PAINES CELESTY COMPOUND.

This wonderful medicine is the prescription of an eminent physician. Take one bottle; it will give you cheering results. Our stock of Paine's Celest Compound is always fresh. Johnson's Pharmacy, Rat Portage, Ont.

CURLING.

The curling season opened Saturday evening with the usual President versus Vice-President match. The skips are pitted against each other:

PRESIDENT.	VICE-PRESIDENT.
W. Robertson	v. W. A. Wein
Dr. Schmitt	v. W. Lyon
J. G. Gaudier	v. F. A. Hudson
S. C. Burton	v. W. G. Cameron
G. W. Smith	v. F. Campbell
Wm. Schwartz	v. J. Beaudry

The games to be played this week, and aggregate score decide the match. On paper it would look as if it was an even tie.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.

Mr. Joseph Boyd and Mrs. Boyd are under arrest at Port Arthur—the former on a charge of bigamy and the latter with entering into an unlawful marriage with Boyd, having knowledge of a previous marriage on his part. It seems that Boyd, who is a hard-looking young man of some thirty-four years of age, left a wife and family of four daughters at Sudbury and went to North Bay to work here he became acquainted with Mary Synott, a young lady who resided at that place with her parents. An attachment followed, and although the young lady was aware of Boyd's previous marriage, an elopement was planned and they took the train for Toronto, where they were married on June 13 last.

The rebuff of being refused hospitality would be almost unbearable.

The lower you go in the social scale the stronger are the reasons against a man marrying young.

Lucky Poverty.
A certain young fellow named Gough contracted a very bad cough. Now, he hadn't the dough to pay doctor's bills, sooth. Unfeasted, he shook the cough right.

Hope is a beautiful morning plant. She goes up half dead and wakes up great and glorious visions buzzing in her head.

Evening to the Occasion.
Gladys—There, now, mamma's gone to the matine and has forgotten her pocket book.

Frank—Don't you worry about mamma. She'll unlock the box office with a hairpin.

A Suggestion.
Girls, if you are fastidious in the selection of a husband as you are in the selection of a new hat, you'll never have any trouble matrimonially.

The umbrella has taken a firm hold upon the native of India, or at any rate upon the Bengali. No less than 3,000,000 umbrellas are imported into the country every year.

Kind thoughts are wings which bear us on to kinder deeds.

BEST SHE COULD DO.
Guest—Waitress, there's a blond hair in my soup.

Waitress—Shall I dye my hair black to please you?

THE KICKER.
Be patient with the kicker.
Who kicks more than he should.
The man who's wholly satisfied
Is seldom any good.

Expert Testimony.
"Doctor, don't you think that rawysters are deadly?"
Yes; I never knew one to complain."

WHITE LIES.
One would hardly dare to ask a friend to die in so many words, says a writer in The Spectator, if it were not permissible for him to make the false reply that he was sorry he was engaged and could not come.

Ordinary social intercourse, instead of becoming more direct, would have to be carried on by an elaborate system of hints otherwise society would become, metaphorically speaking, a bear garden in which sensitive persons would be battered to death. It would be impossible to get used to being told "I do not like you, and your friends bore me," or "I could come quite easily, but I do not care to identify myself with the very second rate people among whom you live."

The rebuff of being refused hospitality would be almost unbearable.

A Terrible Cough.

If people would only treat coughs and colds in time with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, there would be fewer homes.

The severest coughs and colds, bronchitis and croup, and the first stages of consumption yield readily to this powerful lung-healing remedy.

Read what Mrs. Thos. Carter, Northport, Ont., says: "I caught a severe cold, which settled on my throat and lungs, so that I could scarcely speak above a whisper. I also had a terrible cough which my friends thought would send me to my grave. I tried different remedies but all failed to do me any good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and the contents of one bottle completely cured me."
